The Journal is "mystilled" as to onth Carolina, because, as it says, "not aring one jot what Lincoln's opinious are she is yet resolved not to remain in the nion under his rule."

This position towards Lincoln is precise y similar to that taken by the Colonist oward the tea attempted to be forced on them. It was no doubt first rate tea, but they threw it overhoard. "The Journal complains of what It calls "dictation" on the part of South Carolina. The only dictation she has exereised, is to say that she is going, and to bwite the other States to come on. If the editor calls that dictation, and takes of feuse at it, he might be offended with every man who asks him to go and take a Spuntor Wighall's Speech. We find in the Eastern papers the folowing concluding remarks of Scuator Vigfall of Texas:

Mr. Wigfall opened by dwelling at some length on the first section of the United States. He denied that the action of the Southern States was freason against the United States, although he well knew that treason was defined to be levying war on the United States. It is well known on the floor of this Senate that before this day next week one of the States will crase to be a member of this Vulon. [Laughter in the gallerles and among Scuators.] Mr. Wighall continued, and said the Scaator from New York (alluding :o Mr. Klug) may laugh on. Before this day next week I make the assertion that South Carolina will revoke her rattlication of the treaty which makes her one of these United States. She will send an Europ Extraordiuary to appear at this Court. [Laughter.] Ah, Scuators, Nero laughed whilst Kome was burning. You who have it in your power to save your suffering people in the dead of whiter, when they need fuel and lood, should not laugh now. South Carolina may become the grave of freemen, but never the labitation of slaves. [Laughter, dapping, and stamping in the galleries; also hisses.] When her Minister visits this Court, and presents his credentials, that State will wait until the question of enforcing the laws of the present Government has been acted upon, and not until her right to seceed a senied will she resist the Federal troops. From 1775 till 1805 South Carolina was the sole possessor of all the soil and forts within her limits. In 1805, she ceded these forts, without money and without price, to the Government had not money to repair her forts, and the citizens of South Carolina voluntarily raised the necessary housey in order to repair them. When she gave these forts, and the citizens of South Carolina woluntarily raised the necessary housey in order to repair them. Upper Arragon, Spain, is a sanctuary called San Cosmo, tended by two priests, near which some lamilies of peasants live.—
While one of the priests, a few days ago, was celebrating mass in presence of about thirty persons, a gang of brigands entried, and, closing the doors, ordered the priest to quit the altar. He obeyed, and they stripped him of his sacerdotal ornaments, and taking him to his own residence, bound him hand and foot; they also removed all the people present, and bound them likewise. Then they called on the priest to say where his money was, and as he refused, they burnual his feet. At length he stated where a sum of 30,000 reals (7,500) was deposited, and they seized it. Afterward they made a minute search, both in the honses and in the charce for articles of value, and appropriated all that suited them, even including the sacred vessels.
Next thay they prepared the best repast they could find, and having joyonsly partaken red it, they retired, leaving the victims still bound. They were shortly ufterward released by some persons who happened to writes from Atchison, Kansas, under date or becember 9th:

I resched this rity yesterday morning.—
On landing at the levee from the railroad ferryboat, the first object to be seen was a long row of wagons, with numbers of gainst and langry oven standing near. I was told they were from the interior, driven here to be loaded with the provisions sent for the relief of the people. The first men I saw were, Mr. Pomercy, the general disbursing agent of the Relief Committee; Dr. Ayers, of Linn county; C. B. Lines, of Wanbonsa county, and Mr. Graham, of Boniphan rounty. I was immediately plied with questions to know how the people East were sustaining the efforts made to relieve the destitution. I gave all the information of which I was possessed, and in return was fold that the destitution had been underrated entirely. The Rev. Mr. Graham said that there were fifty thousand who must be sustained for some months. Dr. Ayers, one of the most Intelligent and well esteemed citteens of Linn county, said that at least forty thousand must be kept from starving for six months to come. These gent enten I know and have every confidence in.

I walked up to the office wherein is transacted the business of the relief. It was crowded with the meu in charge of the teams standing in the struets and on the levee. As I came along I counted twenty-I reached this city yesterda during his visit to the York State. A correspondent thus tells the story:

"The world knows how countless thousands rushed to the water's edge, and greeted the seion of England's royalty when he lirst set foot on our shores. It knows how he dodged their importunities from necessity, and reached the hotel as best he could. It doesn't happen to know that his mind was more than intent on that scheme relative to the auticipated blow-out than upon the shouts and plaudits of the multimde. Circumstances prove that it was. We need not relate how he was domicided at the Russell House in magnificent style; how he ate a hearty supper; how he bid a most affectionate good-night to the eblerly gentlemenod the suite, and went to hed like a good boy, or how—now comes the point—how he slipped out of his room, after they were allasteet, and under the guidance of that reporter, how he gained the side door on Michigan avenue, and plunged luto the arms of a few choice spirits in waiting, and eager for the Iray. They were some, that crowd! Metaphorically speaking they knew the ropes—had out every cyctooth—had been through the wilderness time and again. One knew where the tiger built his lair, another was fimiliar with the localities wherein tread the feet of the contraband beauty, a fourth drew from the stores of experience ample knowledge of the riandestine dance and Teutonic roote, and so on to the end. They started off through the darkness; they runmaged the highways and the by-ways; they explored was crowded with the men in charge of the teams standing in the streets and on the levee. As I came along I connect twenty-three, and was told that at least fifty were in town. Such a scene! Jereat, stalward men, gound, lean, hungry, weary looking, sad, t. red, and dispirited, psorly rlad, and in all respects filling one with the conviction of suffering patiently borne and long repressed—men, some of whom I recognized, and all of whom lore the immistakable character of stardy industry and independence common to our Western pioneers. To look upon those faces and read the sad tale of suffering within, told the story far more foreibly than my feeble words can.

Mingling among them, I took down is the rlandestrue dance and Teutonic rome, and so on to the cal. They started of through the darkness; they rimmaged the highways and the log-ways; they explored the highways and the log-ways; they explored the result of the res some dozen of them. I give you a few, that your readers may see this is no fiction.

The first I spoke to was a poorly but derently clad neiddle aged man—a respectable booking farmer. This is the substance of his story:

"My name is Walter Cain; I live in Jefferson township, north part of Jackson county, about 40 miles west of Atchison. I have been here four times without obtaining any aid. My orders from the local Committee represent about three houdred voters, (alant iwelve hundred persons.) There has been literally nothing grown in our section, and many must suffer. I planted 25 acres in corn, wheat and petatoes. I have no corn, no polatoes, and only about thirty bushels of wheat, as the harvest. My son in-law had fourteen acres planted in corn, but did not harvest a single car."

and his friends howled a discordant seremade inder the whichow, which was brought to a close by the sudden descent of a steal from a cockleft window.

If there are any who doubt, we can only say "its an o'er true tale." Are not princes mortal, and is not Young America equivalent to any emergency? After all, it Is nothing very wonderful that the hender after that Canadian tour. Monday was an initistially brisk day in Bardstown, in the way of sales of land, negroes, &c. We are unable to report all the sales made, but we publish such as we have been able to get. We hope all the anctioneers will report the sales made by them. them.

The slaves, belonging to the estate of John Mullican, deceased, were sold at the Court House door for the following place, and I only get for my wagons, (two I think he said) twelve sacks of mest and eight of potstoes."

A grave, carnest looking middle-aged man said, in reply to my questions, that:

"His name was W. K. Beech; lived on Mission Creek, Wandbansia county, abont one handred miles from this place. The actilement contained 150 persons last smammer, half of whom had left. Of the rest, only three farmers had any old corn—There was nothing raised there. I know of six families perfectly destitute. These lamilies will average six each—about thirty-six in all. They have nothing, str, but what the neighbors give of their little snipply."

This was said in a very carnest tone in response to my startled look.

"One family cotesists of a slek whow and five children. They have nothing but what we give thom. Have been here with two teams waiting ten days, and Mr. Pomeroy can give us no more of a load than ten sacks of meal, and twenty sacks of potatoes. We are afraid of these freezing."

"Will you please read what you have written, sir?" said Mr. Beech, as I clessed my note book. I bid so, and he corrected one or Iwo immaterial errors. I had made. No man's story morressed me as did this old goutleman's. He was su carnest and conscientious in his statement that one felt the unsaid to be worse than what was said.

HALF INJUN, HALF INJUNZER.—Where the engineer of the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad Company has been engineering the grade for the road near the headwaters of the Alleghauy river, N.Y. there is quite a remnant of the Seneral tribe of Indians. Their land grant is half a mile wide on each side of the river and forty miles in length, and "inalienable forever," so that they nor the State or Federal Government can sell even to the Railroad Company for their track to cross it. They cross on leased ground only. Thus this tribe have been unlike the "rolling stone that gathers no moss," but have become rich. The old chief has a very pretty dangiter, well up in her teens, and atrange to say, about a yearafter the engineering commenced, this forest fawn had occasion to exerelse maternal care. One day the engineer railled the old chief on the faded apperance of the little half orphan. From Jamaica.—By the steamer Zuln at New York, we have news from Jamaica up to the close of has month. Governor Darling, having dissolved his Calinet on account of a difficulty with the Assembly, had formed another, in which the Israelite members of that body were largely represented. Much ill-feeding was created in consequence among the wealthy planters and the large colored population of that Island. Fears were even entertained that miless his Excellency yielded, serious troubles would write. The origin of the difficulty between the Governor and the Legislature dates back to events several years ago. It is not unlikely that a vote of want of confidence in Gov. I deeply appreciate the kind mention you were pleused to make of my hastly written article over the signature of "Constitution," published in the Courier of the 20th ult. It would have afforded me much pleasure to have made further contributions to your columns, upon your invitation, but could not see that I could add any thing to what you were already doing toward premoting the ends we all have tu view—the preservation of the Union without sacrificing principhs and rights as sucred of the Union likely. Besides, I very briefly but fully presented my views to blay. Magofilia in a private letter, ingling upon him the importance of calling auextra session of the Legislature for the purpose of taking such steps as would bring all of our Southern triends into coursel, and thus arresting, for the time being, at least, the course of South Carolina. But candor compels me to say that after Kentucky and other border slave states refused to Indorse principles which they stood committed to, by voring against Breeklinfidge, I have had but title or no hope in the glorious old Commonwealth being able to exercise any luffuence on our friends of the Cotton States. We, in truth, deserve no volce in Southern coursels, having spurned principles in which we are as much luterested, almost, as they of the South.

The course of the Courter meets my unqualified approbation. It has discharged its schole daty with ability and firmness, and has pointed out the only feasible plan by which the existing difficulties in the country can be justly and satisfactorily solved. Be kind enough to send me a half dozen copies of your Weekly edition containing the letter of the Hou. Thos. F. Marshalf I was them to send to personal friends in the Republican party North. While there are many of M.'s positions I dissent from, yet I think the letter, as a whole, is calculated to do a vast amount of good, and ought to be extensively circulated and read. Yours of the 26th ult., In consequence of the confusion and delay growing ont of the removal of our post-offlee, and of the removal of our post-offlee, which not reach ne until yesterday. It hank you for this fayor. In times like the present it is well to compare views from different stand-points. The papers you sent also came to hand at the same lime. The letter of Mr. Loach is a good one; I approve all be says, but the letter is loo long. Our papers will not pullish it for this reason. These are silrring times, and the papers to cult them must be compact, brief, subject. I had seen the Clucinnati speech of Mr. Yancey before, as well as his apeech at the Cooper Institute. I agree with you in thinking that he is the best stump-speaker now in America. I go further, and say that, however much he has been abused and derided as a distoriorist, there is not a word in either of these two speeches that does not carry conviction of his earnestness and particularly of the South, having common sense and common honesty, can resist the clearness and justness of his appeals.

These are stirring times. If not equal yet, they soon well be, to those of the French Revolution. Events changing the opinions of men, changing the destines of a nation, crowd upon each other in such rapid saccession that every twenty-four hours is an era in our history; and the last twenty day have produced greater and more radical changes in the hearts of men han the previous twenty grant is that Kentucky ten days ago; I thought that the Legish-ipre should be convented at once that all the Southern States should meet without delay in convention—to make them—to agree and put forth and the them—to agree and put forth order them—to agree and put forth order that the first and the southern.

(MMF CARPET LINING put down for as by you.

Is the only tiding of the kind that we have ever seen that we would care to have put under our cargets. So much are we pleased within, that we would be very unwilling to have another carpet told or new) put down without it. The difference between a room where it is used and where it is need and where it is not, is so striking as to arrest the attention of the most unob servant. It is worth more than it cost in the insertable in the interest of the carpet's wear, and we think you do not overtate has economy in stating that it aids one half to the carpet's wear. If our recommendation of it will add anything to your sales, we cheerfully give it, feeling wello your that the carpet is much greater kindness than we do yon.

COLUMBLY, S. C., Dec. 17.—A heavy and almost obscuring fog langs like a pail over Columbia, creating general gloom. The small-pox paure is intense among the citizens and strangers. Many members of the Legislature have gone home. A strong effort will be made to-day to adjoin the Legislature and Convention to Charleston, II not, the Convention will probably promptly pass an ordinance of secession and adjoint in-day.

Latri.*—The Convention assembled a moon. Senator Jamison was temporary President. The colf is now progressing for the delegates from districts and parishns to caroli their names. A written invitation from the Legislature to the Convention to participate at the inauguration of the thovernor, at 2 o'clock, was laid upon the table till the Univention organized. The carolling of the names was then continued. The outside attendance at the Convention is small. Some of the members of the Convention are young in appearance, but generally they are of middle age. So far they are ealm and impassioned.

In the Legislature nothing is transpiring. roin this position.

Mr. Wade continued at considerable singth concluding that the present troubles reremainly attributable to misrepresentations of the Republican party and its objects. were mainly attributable to misrepresentations of the Republican purty and its objects.

Mr. Johnson, of Tennessee, got the door, and the Senate adjourned.

Horse.—John Cochrane offered a presamble, setting forth that a conflict of opinion, threatening the peace and harmony of our Union concerning the true Intent fand meaning of that part of the Constitution relating to African slavery in the Territory of the United States, and that the opinion of the majority of the Supreme Court of the United States, as delivered by Chief Instice Tamey, recognizing as property slaves, Acc., should be received as the settlement of the question as therein discussed and decided. He also proposed as an amendment to the Constitution that Congress shall have the power to establish governments for any Territory, and the people therein having adopted a State Constitution may be admitted into the Union, and that neither Cangress nor people, during their Territorial condition, shall pass a law to annual or impair the right of property therein. Referred to select committee.

Mr. Florence submitted the following mendment be proposed to the Constitution of the United States: The right of property in slaves is recognized, and no law shall be passed and nothing shall be done to impair, obstruct or prevent the full and free enjoyment of such rights in any Territory and other property in the United States.

Mr. Wells wanted a division of the question.
